

Los Torrents 2012

From two tiny parcels over 500 meters in elevation on exposed slate (llicorella) facing each other across a steep ravine. The north face is planted to Cariñena, the south to Garnacha. The 50/50 field blend is aged two years in French oak. Intense and powerful style retains fresh fruit character. 2400 bottles produced in February of 2016.

Los Torrents 2012

From two tiny parcels over 500 meters in elevation on exposed slate (llicorella) facing each other across a steep ravine. The north face is planted to Cariñena, the south to Garnacha. The 50/50 field blend is aged two years in French oak. Intense and powerful style retains fresh fruit character. 2400 bottles produced in February of 2016.

Los Torrents 2012

From two tiny parcels over 500 meters in elevation on exposed slate (llicorella) facing each other across a steep ravine. The north face is planted to Cariñena, the south to Garnacha. The 50/50 field blend is aged two years in French oak. Intense and powerful style retains fresh fruit character. 2400 bottles produced in February of 2016.

Los Torrents 2012

From two tiny parcels over 500 meters in elevation on exposed slate (llicorella) facing each other across a steep ravine. The north face is planted to Cariñena, the south to Garnacha. The 50/50 field blend is aged two years in French oak. Intense and powerful style retains fresh fruit character. 2400 bottles produced in February of 2016.

Los Torrents 2012

From two tiny parcels over 500 meters in elevation on exposed slate (llicorella) facing each other across a steep ravine. The north face is planted to Cariñena, the south to Garnacha. The 50/50 field blend is aged two years in French oak. Intense and powerful style retains fresh fruit character. 2400 bottles produced in February of 2016.

Los Torrents 2012

From two tiny parcels over 500 meters in elevation on exposed slate (llicorella) facing each other across a steep ravine. The north face is planted to Cariñena, the south to Garnacha. The 50/50 field blend is aged two years in French oak. Intense and powerful style retains fresh fruit character. 2400 bottles produced in February of 2016.

